

HOUR FOR EXECUTION TWO RADICALS DRAWS NEAR

CHICAGO COPS USE BOMBS TO DISPERSE MOB

Hundreds in Mob Led By Young Girl in March to Loop.

BULLETIN
Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Several hundred men and women were dispersed quickly by police this morning when they started a demonstration in sympathy for Sacco and Vanzetti.

The disorder started in a small print shop when labor unions called a half hour rest period. The crowd had started a march when it ran abreast of police reserves. Six men were arrested.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Led by a pretty 18 year old bobbed hair high school girl a mob of 4,000 men and women, alternately singing the "Third Internationale" and shouting "Mob the police", marched loopward early today. There it was dispersed after a clash with police reserves who hurled tear bombs and fired revolvers.

Sixty-seven men and four women, including the girl leader, Aurora D'Angelo, were arrested. Several persons were reported injured as the mob broke and fled before the police.

The mob, forming after a protest meeting was leading toward the city hall and federal building, urged on as the girl cried "On Comrades! Mob the police! Strike! Strike! Sacco and Vanzetti must not die!"

Automobiles were smashed and windows were broken.

The meeting had passed quietly, the 3,000 who attended passing resolutions of protest against the executions and then moving out in orderly fashion.

Girl Took Command
They congregated in the street, with a few leaders calling for a protest parade.

The girl at once took command. "I'm an anarchist," she cried "and my father was an anarchist. Follow me!"

The street was soon filled for three blocks with shouting men and women.

The advancing mob picked up recruits. The first violence came when those at the front seized an automobile, slashed its tires, broke its windows and swept on leaving the driver terror stricken. Next a street car was halted, the trolley pulled from the wire, while men and women crowded aboard shouting "Strike! Strike!" terrorizing the passengers. Another car was halted and the scene re-enacted.

Police Used Tear Bombs
Meanwhile, police reserves were speeding to meet the march and as the procession swung toward an intersection it was met with tear bombs and threatening pistols.

The police charged, using clubs and tear gas. There was one volley of shots, police orders being to avoid firing unless necessary.

The collapse of the demonstration was more dramatic than its inception. Breaking before the police wall, the crowd sought safety in flight. Those in front found their retreat blocked by the thousands behind.

Rioters Trampled
Several rioters were trampled. Windows were shattered, doors broken and motor cars parked at the curb were damaged. A check, however, indicated no one was seriously injured.

The girl leader, her flimsy dress partly torn away, stood on the running board of an automobile as the break-up came.

"I'm only a kid," she shouted, "but I guess I know what I'm talking about. Let me talk!" Two policemen stopped the automobile and pulled her down. She broke away and ran nearly two blocks before she was caught. When trapped, she rained blows with her small fists upon the officers and kicked them.

Finally in a police car, the girl sobbed:

"I'm only a kid, ain't this a free country? I know that this means to my people and I'm ready to go to jail for it."

TWO ARRESTED IN MURDER OF TWO ITALIANS

Chicago Police Have Another Mystery Killing Today

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Two men were arrested in a hotel here by police in connection with the slaying of two unidentified Italians whose bodies were found early today on a highway near Melrose Park.

An examination of the spot where the bodies were found indicated three men had committed the killing, the police said, after a bitter struggle. Diamond studs and rings valued at $1,500 were found on the slain men.

More than ten shots were fired into the bodies.

The highway police advanced the theory the men were Chicago "racketeers" who had been ordered to leave Chicago under threat of death, and that after a sojourn in St. Louis they had returned, were found and had been killed.

Another police theory was that the men were imported from St. Louis to commit murder but were slain before they could fulfill their mission.

The initials "A. K. R." were found on a watch chain on one of the victims.

MASTER TEACHER INSPIRES GREAT CLASS IN DIXON

Bible Conference Now Under Way Proving Great Benefit

THURSDAY'S PROGRAM
"Missionary Day"

9:30 "Jesus' Teaching on Prayer," Dr. Henderson.

10:30 "Abyssinia," Dr. T. A. Lambie.

2:00-4:00: "Lepers," Miss Lulu D. Ervin.

"Europe," Norma J. Smith.

Further introduction, with brief messages of all other missionaries present.

6:45 "Africa," Dr. J. E. Henderson.

7:30 "The Bible and the Church," Dr. Morgan.

The School of Missions Program will follow the outlined arrangements, with the Foreign Missions Course at 8:15, and the Home Book at 10:00.

From 10:30 to noon yesterday morning the audience of five hundred in Assembly Park Tabernacle resembled a class at study, as Testaments in hand, they followed verse by verse, chapter by chapter, the striking exposition by Dr. G. Campbell Morgan of the Gospel according to Matthew.

The Doctor's outstanding characteristics as a teacher and lecturer seem to be: Interest in his subject, fullness of preparation, maturity of thought, contact with his hearers, and purpose in his message. Here is no paid performer, no "lyceumite," with his eye on "the house" and a "return date."

Closing his first evening address Monday, of about eighty minutes, he said, "Indeed, I've held you rather long—and I'll hold you longer than this before the week ends."

Almost at the outset of his work in Dixon, Dr. Morgan announced his preference for "traditional positions" so that in his morning arguments (Continued on Page 7).

Ship Burst Into Flame After Crashing at San Diego.

BULLETIN
San Diego, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lieutenants George Covell and R. W. Waggener, U. S. N., who left today in an airplane they had entered in the Dole flight to Honolulu, were killed when the ship crashed into Point Loma.

The plane was destroyed less than 15 minutes after they had left for the Oakland Air Port, where they intended to take off Friday for Honolulu. The plane burst into flames after it fell. Both bodies were recovered.

It was believed the plane had struck the west bank of the Point as the airmen were endeavoring to gain altitude.

Covell's body was in the cockpit and charred beyond recognition, identification being made from a wallet. Waggener's body also was badly burned. He is believed to have endeavored to jump clear of the plane, but was caught in the wreckage.

Some of the morphine tablets he had placed in the bottle and several drinks of the mixture resulted in his lapsing into a coma for several hours. Yesterday afternoon he was taken before Justice George Hines where a charge of robbery was preferred against him by the physician, with the result that the was held to the September grand jury under $500.

Young denies that he entered the physician's office and took the narcotics, but was anxious to make good the amount of loss sustained by Dr. Sullivan, provided no charges would be preferred against him, and he be allowed to leave the community. He admits, however, having been in the reception room at the office, where he claims he adjusted the cork leg.

Brother of Dr. Ives is Dead at Byron
William S. Ives, aged 70, Byron pioneer and brother of Dr. C. H. Ives of Dixon, died at his home in Byron at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, death being caused by heart trouble, with which he had suffered for over a year. No funeral arrangements had been made this morning.

Mr. Ives had been a respected resident of Byron all his life, his residence being a part of the original Ives homestead. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Carrie Ives; and three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Pepper of Byron, Mrs. Carrie Sturtz of Pecatonica and Mrs. Laura Stuck of Elm Claire, Wis.

Seven Planes on Runways.
Seven of the planes entered in the Dole race were on local runways today while six were attempting eleventh hour dashes to San Francisco.

W. C. Parkhurst, flying the "City of Peoria," came down at Cheyenne, Wyo., last night and grazed the wing of his plane against a telegraph pole.

Captain A. V. Rodgers, British war ace, expected to fly from Oakland Air Port today from Los Angeles. Lieutenant George Covell was ready to take off from San Diego.

The tri-plane "Pride of Los Angeles" was down in the vicinity of Los Angeles, undergoing last minute tests.

F. A. Giles, British war flier, was still far from the starting point. Engine trouble prevented him from taking off yesterday at Detroit.

Captain Erwin expected to make a second attempt to fly from Dallas to the coast.

STORMS OVER ATLANTIC
Paris, Aug. 10.—(AP)—With weather conditions over the Atlantic still uncertain, it was said this morning that there was little chance of any of the trans-Atlantic flight contenders hopping off within the next forty-eight hours.

PART OF WOMAN'S LEG FOUND IN NEWLY MADE GRAVE ALONG LITTLE USED ROAD NEAR PARK

Eugene Martin, who was employed in mowing weeds on the road connecting route 26 and the Lowell park road, made a gruesome discovery yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. While engaged at his work on the sparsely travelled road, which Highway Commissioner James Penny is putting in shape for grading, Mr. Martin came upon what appeared to be a freshly made mound.

In removing a small amount of dirt, he came upon a package wrapped in newspapers and inside this, carefully wrapped in cotton, appeared to be a part of a human body. Sheriff Ward Miller was notified at once and went to the scene. A closer examination of the mystery package, revealed a portion of a woman's right limb, which from all appearances had been amputated. The member was left in the shallow grave until this morning when Coroner Frank M. Banker arrived from Franklin Grove and started an investigation.

It was indicated about noon today that the portion of the limb had been buried at the side of the road recently, and represented the amputated part of a woman's right leg. The investigation was still under way at noon and it was expected that the mystery would be cleared up within a few hours.

LOOT OF DRUG ADDICT, ROBBER OF AMBOY PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE, FOUND HIDDEN IN CORK LEG

R. E. Young of Iowa is Held to September Grand Jury

R. E. Young, who claims to be a solicitor for farm periodicals printed by an Iowa publishing house, is in the county jail here in default of $500 bonds on a charge of robbery and is held to the September grand jury. Young was brought to Dixon from Amboy Tuesday evening by Sheriff Ward Miller and locked up in the county jail.

Young was arrested Monday night in the south Illinois Central yards in Amboy following the ransacking of the offices of Dr. E. A. Sullivan. The stranger, who had been in the city but a few hours, is alleged to have entered the office of the physician for opiates and secured about 600 morphine pills. Some of these are said to have been found hidden in the joint of a cork leg which Young wore when he was taken in custody. He appeared to have the tablets distributed about his entire person and also carried a four ounce bottle of paragon, from which he appeared to have been imbibing generously.

Held to Grand Jury.

FOUND BESIDE ROAD.
Sheriff Ward Miller and deputies were called south of the city about three miles on the Dutch road last night about 7:30, where it was reported several parties were lying along the side of the road in an intoxicated condition. Richard Long and Frank McCann were taken to the county jail, a third member of the party having beaten a hasty retreat across the fields when the officers arrived. He will probably be arrested today, the sheriff indicated.

A young woman who accompanied the party was taken to the county jail but released, no charge being preferred. Long and McCann were fined $15 and costs each this morning on charges of disorderly conduct when arraigned before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson.

ROAD TO WEALTH ENDS.
Eugene Sullivan, aged 16, and cousin, Frank Sullivan, aged 14, of Chicago, dreamed of immense wealth to be made by going to the northwestern wheat fields and securing employment. They took an old Ford car belonging to Frank's mother and Eugene drew his savings amounting to $24 from the bank and started for the unknown land of wealth at noon yesterday, leaving notes for their parents. Last night they were taken in charge by Chief Van Bibber, who found them on the north side negotiating their next jump. Today they are awaiting the arrival of their parents to take them back home.

War Veteran, Sick, is Given Assistance
C. M. Dickey, a world war veteran who was released from the Great Lakes hospital over a year ago and who claims Henderson, Ky., as his home, was found lying on the Lincoln highway a half mile east of Nacahusa by State Motorcycle Officer Harold Lenox yesterday afternoon, in an unconscious condition. The young man was brought to Dixon and given medical attention. He apparently had suffered an epileptic seizure while walking along the highway.

Dickey was given assistance by officers of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion, and sent to Chicago to re-enter the Great Lakes Hospital. He had been a member of a motor transport unit together with some of the Dixon veterans during the world war.

Local Golfers at Opening Oregon Club
A number of Dixon golfers attended the formal opening of the new Rock River Country Club course at Oregon Tuesday, and saw Jack Hutchinson, former national open champion, in action. Paired with Laurence Ayton, professional at the Evanson Country Club, Hutchinson shot a 71, one under par on the first eighteen holes, and he and his partner were seven up on McCulloch, former Indiana champion, and Dr. Markle of Polo, recent winner of the Lincoln highway tournament at Polo.

In the afternoon Hutchinson and Ayton engaged Billy Gordon, Rockford Country Club pro, and Bert Montross, Oregon club pro. The Dixon visitors found the Oregon course to be one of beauty and interest.

RAIDERS GET LIQUOR HERE TUESDAY P. M.

Four Places Raided By Sheriff's Force and Police.

The activity of Frank Moore, a liquor investigator, employed by the city, following close on the heels of a similar campaign two weeks ago, resulted in the raiding of four residences within the city limits yesterday afternoon, in which members of the police department were assisted by the sheriff's forces. The squad paid their first visit to two north side homes a few minutes after 2 o'clock, when divided into two companies, the residences of Alec Robinson, 7448 North Jefferson avenue and Ed. Peterson, 740 North Jefferson avenue, neighbors, were raided. A truck load of home brew and wine was taken from the Robinson home while a quantity of home brew was hauled to the county jail from the Peterson place.

Mrs. Tracey Robinson and Ed. Peterson were arrested and taken to the county jail where they were locked up until the mop up was completed. The John Mantech home, 809 Park street was next visited and a small quantity of liquor found.

At Colored Man's Home.
The home of Jim Lee, colored, on Jay Dee avenue in the southwest part of the city, the scene of several former police visits, was the last to be raided. Miss Elizabeth Brooks, alias Cunningham, who was in charge of the place was taken in custody. She is said to have dumped a quantity of liquor as the officers entered the house, but a full pitcher of moonshine liquor was found and taken in charge by the officers before the woman reached it. The woman who claims to be from Oklahoma was taken to the county jail and locked up.

AM four of the parties were taken before Justice Grover W. Gehant at the close of the series of raids. All waived preliminary hearings and were held to the September grand jury under bonds of $1,000 each, which were furnished. Alec Robinson, husband of Mrs. Tracey Robinson, was arrested last night by Chief Van Bibber on a warrant charging sale and possession of intoxicating liquor, but was released when he furnished bonds.

Is Needed Equipment.
The purchase of a new pumper type fire truck fills a long felt want in Dixon. For several years previous councils have realized the importance of the pumper type of fire fighting equipment and various methods and plans of equipping the present White truck have been considered, but all were rejected. Members of the council inspected three makes of equipment and made a close study of their merits with a view of providing the city with the best fire fighting equipment obtainable before placing the order. The Seagrave and Ahrens-Fox companies also submitted bids to the city on the pumper.

I. N. U. Wants Action.
C. J. McLean of the engineering department of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company was before the council in the interest of the high tension line which is planned to be constructed on the south bank of the river and urged immediate action of the council. The matter has been filed with the council for several weeks and has been discussed many times, but no action taken. Commissioner Miller presented a motion asking that committee of three be selected by the mayor to confer with representatives of the utilities company at a meeting Monday morning at 8 o'clock, which met with the approval of all members of the council except Commissioner Schumm, who voted in the negative.

Rock Island Racer Killed at Hastings
Hastings, Neb. — Aaron Strong, Rock Island, Ill., was killed yesterday during the first automobile racing event at the county fair. His wife witnessed the accident. He was leading the field by about 25 yards when he lost control of his car after negotiating the first turn. The car crashed into the fence and Strong was hurled 15 feet into the air, crushing his skull.

DIXON WOMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN BUS ACCIDENT THIS MORNING: THREE OTHERS INJURED

(Telegraph Special Service)
Rockford, Ill., Aug. 10.—Mrs. Fred Rickert of Dixon is in St. Joseph hospital at Belvidere suffering serious injuries which she sustained early this morning while a passenger on a Rockford-Chicago bus which ran into the ditch and hit a culvert on state route 5 near Camp Epworth. She sustained a fractured left forearm and internal injuries, and was one of four women who were the most seriously injured in the accident.

The driver of the bus, Fred Mathews of Rockford, was forced to take the ditch when a farmer, driving a load of hay, turned directly in front of the bus as the motor vehicle attempted to pass him. The big bus struck a culvert squarely, and did not turn over, but the impact threw the passengers in a heap.

Three Rockford women were also seriously hurt, and were brought to Rockford hospital after receiving first treatment at Belvidere.

OREGON PASTOR STRICKEN WITH BLOOD POISON

Rev. B. C. Holloway Patient at Dixon Hospital

Rev. B. C. Holloway, pastor of the Methodist church at Oregon, is a patient at the Dixon hospital, receiving treatment for a severe case of blood poisoning in his left arm, the result of an automobile accident in which the arm was fractured and the hand badly crushed.

The accident occurred while Rev. Mr. Holloway and family together with a Poplar Grove party, was on a vacation from his duties at the Oregon M. E. church.

Near Rice Lake, Wis., the pastor's car was forced from the highway and overturned. Other members of the group escaped with minor injuries.

PUMPER BOUGHT BY CITY COUNCIL TUESDAY EVENING

American-LaFrance Company Successful Bidder for Equipment

The city council Tuesday evening voted to purchase one of the American-LaFrance type of triple combination pumper fire trucks at a cost of about $13,000, to replace the old White truck which has been in service for several years and is not equipped with a pumper. Commissioner Louis Schumm cast the only dissenting vote when the motion was presented by Commissioner Miller of the department of public health and safety. After the roll had been called, Commissioner Schumm intimated that he was dissatisfied with the selection and favored another make of pumper.

William Deltch, sales manager for the American-LaFrance company, was in the city and promised delivery of the new piece of fire fighting apparatus within 30 days and earlier if possible. The type of machine selected is almost identical with the big pumper which was brought to Dixon from Chicago about two weeks ago, and which gave several highly satisfactory demonstrations in various parts of the city.

The purchase of a new pumper type fire truck fills a long felt want in Dixon. For several years previous councils have realized the importance of the pumper type of fire fighting equipment and various methods and plans of equipping the present White truck have been considered, but all were rejected. Members of the council inspected three makes of equipment and made a close study of their merits with a view of providing the city with the best fire fighting equipment obtainable before placing the order. The Seagrave and Ahrens-Fox companies also submitted bids to the city on the pumper.

Effort to Have Liquor Case Dismissed Failure

Attorney John E. Erwin, spent Tuesday afternoon and a part of this morning in the county court presenting motions in the case of the People vs. Clinton Holderman, one of a number represented by the attorney as the result of the mop up drive here two weeks ago. Judge Leech listened for hours to the motions, which with but a single exception were overruled.

The first motion moved that the case be stricken from the files of the court and the information dismissed upon the grounds that the information was wrongfully procured. This was overruled by the court.

The second motion held that the information was insufficient and void, that it was improper, wrongful and unlawful and that it contained insufficient statements to justify the court in proceeding with the trial of the case. This was also overruled.

The third motion sought to have the evidence impounded, stating that the complaint was insufficient on which to base a search warrant and further contended that the fact that a special investigator purchased a drink of liquor from Clinton Holderman, the defendant, was insufficient. This was overruled by Judge Leech.

Questioned J. P.
The attorney then raised the question of the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace to issue a search warrant, and asked the court to hold the (Continued on Page 2)

FINAL HOPE IS REPRIEVE BY GOVERNOR

Executive Calls His Council to Meet This Afternoon.

BULLETIN.
State Prison, Charlestown, Mass., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Sacco and Vanzetti waited in silence today for news of the legal battle being waged for them. Vanzetti was the more restless and kept moving about. Sacco, who had indicated that he has given up hope, continued to lie on his cot, staring upward.

Sacco appeared to be weaker on the 24th day of his hunger strike.

Several hundred people gathered in the vicinity of the prison today, although they were prevented from coming close to the walls by police.

While Warden Hendry would not discuss the possibility of deferring the execution, pending a respite or legal stay, it was the understanding about the prison that only official action would halt the proceedings.

All arrangements for the execution itself have been completed.

Boston, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Possibility that the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti might be postponed from early tomorrow was seen when Judge Sanderson of the supreme court announced today he would not give his decision until tomorrow on a writ of habeas corpus.

Whether he shall permit a bill of exceptions from his refusal to grant writs of error and habeas corpus to the full bench.

The executive council, was at the state house early this afternoon prepared to hear any communication from the governor. Any recommendation for a stay must be approved by the council. Gov. Fuller also had called to the state house all but one of the former attorney generals of the state who are living, that he might have the benefit of their advice.

Death Set for Tonight
After defense attorneys had visited Sacco and Vanzetti in the death cell today, one of them, Michael Musmanno, announced that if the governor and council refused a respite, habeas corpus proceedings would be brought in the federal court. Sacco angrily refused to sign a petition for habeas corpus writ, but Vanzetti did.

Attorney General Reading and A. Hill, chief defense counsel, visited the Governor's office after their conference at the court house with Judge Sanderson which resulted in the judge's announcement.

The execution has been set for some time after midnight tonight. Whether Judge Sanderson's announcement presaged a postponement could not be told in advance of (Continued on page 2)

FINAL HOPE
IS REPRIEVE
BY GOVERNOR

Governor Fuller's making public his decision whether to grant a stay.

Jail Guard Tripled

With the electric chair waiting and a triple line of guards patrolling the prison walls and other officers guarding nearby streets and bridges, the final hours were unmarked by any departure from death house routine.

Celestino Madeiros, a third slayer, was also to go to the chair early tomorrow. His life has been prolonged because of his self-identification with the case of the other two.

Sacco, his three week fast plainly telling on him, has stared dully at the ceiling of his cell, apparently long since indifferent. His guards have expressed the opinion that his only hope is to "cheat" the chair. He refused breakfast today.

Vanzetti, whose hunger strike has not been as rigid as that of Sacco, has paced his cell and has been largely preoccupied with letters. Like Sacco, however, he has ceased to believe escape is possible. "I die for anarchy," has been the burden of his correspondence. He also declined to eat today.

Machine Guns Ready

Madeiros seems to have least concern over his fate. He has eaten heartily and has availed himself freely of the death cell special menus.

Outside of the prison were mounted a battery of machine guns ready

OLD MASTERS

The rich man's son inherits lands,
And piles of brick and stone, and gold,
And he inherits soft white hands,
And tender flesh that fears the cold,
Nor dares to wear a garment old;
A heritage, it seems to me,
One scare would wish to hold in fee.

In a week or ten days the newly married couple will leave for Dallas Texas, where Mr. Entyre has an excellent position as an interior decorator.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Entyre are charming and popular young people with hosts of friends in Oregon and Dixon who will hasten to extend best wishes to them for happiness.

Breakfast Honored Birthday Anniversary

A delightful event took place Monday morning early, at Lowell park when fourteen of the operators at the Dixon Home Telephone Company's office gathered to enjoy a breakfast. The breakfast was given in honor of Miss Mary Lowry, whose birthday it was. A most appetizing breakfast was served and the beauties of the park were realized as never before by the girls assembled, for the early morning at Lowell is an experience not soon forgotten. At the close of the happy occasion all wished Miss Lowry many happy returns of the day.

Heavy Rain Sunday Spoiled Pleasure

The heavy rain Sunday in this section of Illinois did untold good to crops and vegetation of all kinds, and while thus doing good it also dampened considerably the ardor of many pleasure seekers and motorists. Especially was this so in the vicinity of Starved Rock and Deer Park, always so popular with Sunday pleasure seekers. The storm gathered so quickly that picnickers were taken unaware and were forced to flee to any shelter available. Many a nice picnic dinner was ruined, left out in the downpour, and reduced to a pulp.

Women in silk dress were sorry looking sights and men in cheap summer suits more so, for some were noted with the suits starting to shrink.

The park and vicinity were thickly populated Sunday with tourists and pleasure-seekers and it poured on the just and unjust alike.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCoy, Jr., son Jackie, and the Misses Margaret and Loretta McCoy drove to Starved Rock Sunday and picked up there, and were fortunate enough to find shelter before the rain.

Another party from Dixon, the Misses Mary and Carrie Heckman and Elmer LeFevre and Henry Taylor motored to Mendota, LaSalle and Peru Sunday but did not reach Starved Rock because of the rain.

Birthday Party For Carl Monday

Sixteen little boys and girls gathered at the home of Carl Allen Frey, 711 Peoria avenue, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in honor of his eighth birthday.

ST. JAMES MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The St. James Ladies' Missionary Society will meet at the church Thursday afternoon. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Charming Party Tuesday Afternoon

Miss Sara Elizabeth Rink was hostess Tuesday afternoon at a charming luncheon given at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Dixon, followed by an afternoon of bridge at the home of her aunt, Miss Clara Rink. The decorations at the attractive hotel dining room were exceptionally lovely in autumn flowers in lighter shades and yellow tapers, and favors carried out the lovely pastel color idea. At the Rink home there was a profusion of beautiful flowers in all the rooms, gladioli, and roses, etc.

At bridge Miss Roberta Emerich of Freeport was awarded the favor for high score and Miss Katherine Sullivan won the second favor, and Mrs. George Van Nuyss the third. Out-of-town guests cut the favors and Miss Mary Stager of Sterling was the fortunate one. Miss Louise Murphy, who is soon to leave for Europe, was presented a guest favor, also.

Out-of-town guests present at the happy affair were Mrs. George Niman of Chicago; Miss Martha Niman of Polo; Mrs. Bryant Purcell of Oregon; Miss Roberta Emerich of Freeport; Misses Clara and Mary Stager of Sterling; Miss Mary Howland of Streator; Miss Frances Jones of Elgin; Mrs. M. Rehnitz, Pueblo, Colo.; Miss Anne Degen of Denver.

Grace Evangelical W. M. S. in Meeting

The Young Peoples Missionary Circle of Grace Evangelical church held its monthly meeting at the church on Monday evening. Following the fellowship supper Miss Irene Miller took charge of the meeting. After singing, Helen Brandfeller read portions of John 15 and 17 and a number of the circle members offered prayer. Lola Brandfeller sang a solo entitled, "He Cares for Us." The lesson study book entitled, "Our Templed Hills" is being considered by the society.

Miss Irene Miller gave an interesting study on the third chapter dealing with the Rural Church and the Nation. Mrs. Brandfeller gave a report of the recent W. M. S. convention held at Barrington, Ill. The Grace Circle was the only circle in the state that received a gold seal for its efficiency.

TO ATTEND OAKDALE CAMPMEETING

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Brandfeller and family and guest, Mrs. Ed. Brandfeller, of Chicago, will go to Oakdale Campmeeting Thursday to attend the sessions. Rev. Brandfeller is the secretary of the camp meeting.

MRS. ED. BRANDFELLER GUEST FROM CHICAGO

Mrs. Ed. Brandfeller of Chicago is a guest at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Brandfeller.

Grace Circle Received Gold Medal

The W. M. S. of the Grace Evangelical church met Thursday night at the church.

The first number on the enjoyable program was a solo by Helen Brandfeller. Miss Dewey had charge of the devotions, after which Mrs. Fred Krahler played a cornet solo. Mrs. Harry Stewart gave a reading and Mrs. Graybill read the leadet followed by O. E. Strock who gave the lesson study. Mrs. Kline sang a solo. Mrs. Brandfeller then gave a very interesting report of the convention held at Barrington, last week. The business session followed, after which all were invited to the basement where tempting refreshments were served.

Annual Carthage College Dinner

The annual Carthage College dinner will be held at Hotel Dixon Thursday, Aug. 11, 1927, at 6:30 p. m. Those planning to attend are asked to meet at the Assembly Park Hotel between 3 and 6 o'clock of Thursday afternoon. Reservations should be sent to Miss Ruth Bollman, Dixon, Ill.

ALTRUISTIC UNCLE SAM.

It is perhaps too early to pass any hard and fast judgment on the success or lack of success which characterized the Geneva arms parley, but one comment by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur should be writ large in the copybook of principles which guides this government in future bickerings with other powers.

"We cannot expect," says Secretary Wilbur—"We cannot expect either Great Britain or Japan to scrap ships constructed since the former treaty for limiting armament, nor is it likely that we will again sacrifice new ships in such an undertaking."

The last clauses of that sentence—"nor is it likely that we will again sacrifice new ships in such an undertaking"—is the part that rankles. After the Washington conference this government in good faith scrapped thirty-two capital ships, nineteen of which were built and thirteen of which were under construction. Britain at the same time scrapped only twenty-two ships, and Japan scrapped only sixteen. Generous Uncle Sam lead the way, and as usual, he got a sock in the jaw for his benevolence.

American big heartedness in international dealing has on several other occasions suffered similar treatment. When America first entered the World War, General Pershing conferred with British statesmen on how the American army might best co-operate with the Allies. The British at that time practically insisted that American troops be sent over as replacements to British units, to fight under the British flag. Pershing's insistence that the United States troops fight under the United States flag caused much hard feeling for a long time.

That experience, and the more recent experience at Geneva prove beyond all doubt that the British are good arguers. As French observers unofficially observed, the British maneuvered American delegates into such a position that it would be possible for the British to make slight concessions to enable the American delegates to save their faces, yet giving Great Britain a very definite domination of the seas.

We live and learn, but it should be many moons before your altruistic Uncle Samuel ever sacrifices another thirty-two capital ships in the interest of disarmament. And as a sidelight to that observation—wouldn't it have been nice had this country canceled all war debts in order to help England, France and Italy maintain their strength in cruisers.

OLD AGE THE ONLY DISEASE.

Chicago's health commissioner recently declared that someone should be hanged for negligence every time a death from typhoid fever occurs, and thereby he most emphatically brought out the realization that this once dreaded disease is now under almost complete control.

For all this amazing progress, man's knowledge of disease and preventive medicine is still in a primitive state. A British scientist told the American Chemical Society the other day that one three-millionth part of an ounce of the proper vitamin would cure an advanced case of rickets in a rat, indicating that the curative powers of these new and mysterious life forces, still not definitely understood, have only begun to be appreciated.

The day in which someone should be hanged whenever a death occurs from any cause except old age seems at times to be not far distant.

THE GOVERNMENT SURVEYS SERVANTS.

The servant problem is given a new slant by a report from the U. S. Department of Labor.

Servants haven't become "uppish," but employers have, intimates the report. Servants are demanding no more in the way of decent quarters, time off, and special privileges; but employers do not grant privileges as readily as before.

One answer to that, of course, is that the high cost of living has put a premium upon "time off" and other requisites.

Restricted immigration has not affected the servant problem at all, continues the report, giving figures to prove that when immigration was utterly unrestricted, the same scarcity of servants existed.

The conclusion is made that "both native American and foreign-born women prefer other means of earning a living."

In short, the servant problem we will have with us always.

H. C. L. REACHES A PEAK.

No fact affects the majority of people as the fact of the increase or the decrease in the cost of living.

The great majority of the people, therefore, will be interested to know that although the average cost of food increased from 1 to 5 per cent in 46 out of 51 investigated cities last month, 31 of the same cities showed a decrease of from 1 to 5 per cent over the same period last year.

America's after-war high cost of living has reached its peak and is tumbling, say economists. Europe's, however, is still climbing to the peak, and no relief can be expected for a long time.

The longer a war lasts, the longer the people pay.

The army is going to walk on rubber heels, according to a Washington dispatch. That "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" song now can be changed to "Shush, Shush, Shush."

THE ANIMATES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Goofy Goo the Tines found just slightly hurt upon the ground, began to get real friendly, as they carried him along. "I like you all," they heard him say. "The reason that we ran away 'cause we thought you'd hurt us. Now I know that we were wrong."

"Why, we're as friendly as can be," said Clowny. "We won't hurt you. Gee, we merely wished to play with you and have some dandy fun. To be real kind is always best, and now I hope we find the rest, for when we do we'll all join in and sing, and play and run."

The little Goofy Goo then said, "Our camp, I'm sure, is just ahead. Just trail along on through the trees and we will soon be there." That's what they did, and found him right. The little camp soon came in sight. They saw a lot of Goofy Gooes out in the open air.

As soon as they were on the ground, the Goofy Goo the Tines found, told all the others, "These are friends. They kindly brought me here." And then, their real respect to show, the Tines all bowed very low. The Goofy Goo then did the same, and broke out in a cheer.

Then one grabbed Clowny by the hand, and said, "I think it would be grand if we would show our gratitude by making him our king."

"Hurray!" the others shouted loud. And this made Clowny feel real proud. He stood and looked dumbfounded as he heard their voices ring.

"The right to rule as you shall own," said one. "We've got a dandy throne, and you shall sit upon it with a crown upon your head."

Clowny, thus was made their king. He thought it quite a wondrous thing. The other Tines clapped as to the throne he soon was led.

(Clowny has fun being king in the next story.)

An EX-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

PAUL ADAMS
NIA Service

No notes of American effort in France are quite complete without a reference to Jim McGourty—who, for the past six years, has been a supervisor for the Graves Registration Service.

Jim lives at Romagne-sous-Montfaucon and there is not a spot in the Meuse-Arnonne sector that he does not know intimately. Furthermore, he is an absolute authority on every action of every division that fought there. Standing on Etrayres Ridge he can point out all the lines of attack of the 28th, 29th, 33d and 79th divisions. Or he can stand on Le Chemine Tendu and tell how the Argonne Forest was taken. And he knows whereof he speaks, because it has been Jim's job to locate and identify the bodies of American soldiers.

"I've heard stories that the 77th division captured the dugout of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. But it wasn't the 77th. It was the 28th. The 77th may have gone over there on a sightseeing tour. But the soldiers of the 28th were the only ones I uncovered in that section of the Argonne."

Very recently, Jim and his gang did some investigating work in the Bois des Ognons, not far from the Madeleine Farm and Cunel. In a clearing in the tangled undergrowth he found the skeleton of a Spad fighting plane. The engine was gone and there was no trace of the re-

CITIES SERVICE GASOLINE

SAINT and SINNER

"Faith, I want to show you some pictures of Selma and George when they were babies and little children," Mrs. Pruitt said when the eight of them were scattered about the drawing room after dinner. Selma was playing Schubert on the grand piano, trying to look unconcerned over the fact that Andrews, the sandy-haired young man who was supposed to be paying court to her was devoting himself to Cherry, a devotion which had sprung up suddenly toward the end of the meal. And Cherry was happy again, dimpling, glittering, toasting her little copper-and-gold head and dazzling her new conquest.

"I'd live that," Faith cried, instantly abandoning the two men who had been hanging over her devotedly—her husband just as adoringly as George Pruitt.

Mrs. Pruitt, a large and handsome woman whose bearing was a constant reminder of the fact that the Pruitts were among the richest and most socially prominent people in town, cuddled Faith's arm affectionately as they ascended the staircase to the second floor.

"Of course that was an excuse to get you away for a private talk," the older woman acknowledged brusquely. "Faith, my dear—sit here beside me—I want you to tell me something quite frankly, something that concerns me most vitally. Don't look so startled! I'm not going to ask you if you're in love with George. It would be obvious to a blind man that you're crazy about that husband of yours. But tell me—does Cherry plan to marry my George when she gets her divorce from that scoundrel, Wiley?"

Faith went white, was silent for a moment, then answered honestly: "I'm afraid she does hope to, Mrs. Pruitt."

Mrs. Pruitt's large bosom rose on a great sigh. "Thank you, my dear. It is charming to find someone so thoroughly honest. Cherry usually gets what she wants, doesn't she?" she mused, rather than questioned.

"Usually," Faith managed to smile. "Tell me—has George asked her, proposed to her—provisionally, of course?" Mrs. Pruitt's voice was harsh with anxiety.

"I—don't think so, dear Mrs.

Pruitt," Faith reassured her softly. "He's still in love with you, of course," George's mother helped her. "Pity you wouldn't take him. We were all so pleased that he had fallen in love with exactly the right girl—" Her voice roughened on a sob. "But that's all over now, of course," she went on determinedly. "You're married and happy. It's refreshing to see a man so devoted as your Bob. I've heard rumors, but maybe it's just Selma's way of reporting things, that Cherry was likely to make trouble for you there, but—forgive me, my dear. I'm a free-spoken old woman who may learn some day to mind her own business," she scolded herself as her keen eyes noted that Faith's face flooded with color. "Now, tell me—that's a dear—whether I should try to discourage George if he seems to get at all serious. Naturally you can imagine how we feel—the trial and Cherry's unfortunate marriage, the baby and all—"

"I do know," Faith acknowledged despairingly. "But, oh Mrs. Pruitt, I know also that Cherry is innocent of any really evil action. She has simply been the victim of a series of unfortunate circumstances. She was cleared of the murder charge, as you know, and her separation from her husband was Chris' fault, not hers. She had been infatuated with him for months, and married him because she could not help herself. She found that he wasn't worthy—and later that she was going to have a baby. That's all. There's really nothing to blame Cherry for, except her beauty and her impulsiveness. Please try to be fair to Cherry, Mrs. Pruitt."

"All right!" The older woman rose abruptly, then stooped to kiss Faith on the lips. "You're a jewel of a sister, my dear. I wish you'd taken my George."

TOMORROW: Cherry begins to take a new interest in life after Andrews fell in love with her.

$725

TO 875 F.O.B. DETROIT.

HERE again in this new "52" is another one of those vivid Chrysler demonstrations of greater value which tell their own striking story at a glance.

You need only see the Chrysler "52"—contrasting it in your mind with everything offered in its field—to realize that once more Chrysler Standardized Quality has yielded more to the buyer than money has ever been able to buy before.

Here in the new Chrysler "52" is true beauty far above previous standards in its class.

Here is vigor of performance far greater than you have ever been able to buy before at this money—52 and more unvarying miles per hour, delivered with a smoothness no other low-priced car can even approach.

Here, in the new "52", are ample space and comfort with long, roomy bodies, staunchly constructed of wood and steel.

See it, and above all, drive it—for once you have experienced its performance we are confident that you, too, will agree that in the new "52" Chrysler has passed beyond all accepted limits of what $725 to $875 have been able to buy in motoring performance, comfort and luxury.

New "Red Head" Available

The new Chrysler "Red-Head" engine, giving extra speed, pick-up and hill-climbing ability, assured by the use of high-compression fuels, is now made available for the new Chrysler "52". Any Chrysler dealer will gladly give you full particulars and an impressive demonstration of the "Red-Head" engine advantages.

NEW CHRYSLER "52" PRICES—Coupe $775; Roadster (with rumble seat) $725; 2-door Sedan $735; 4-door Sedan $795; De Luxe Sedan $875. All prices f.o.b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan.

Seen From Press Boxes in Major League Ball Parks

(BY THE AP)
To the Dodgers, who have beaten the Cubs only twice in 15 games, goes the distinction of stopping the National League leaders after they had won nine games straight. The Cubs beat the Robins 2-0 in the first game of a double header, but lost the other, 5-4. Hartnett was spiked in the foot by Gus Felix, Brooklyn outfielder.

The Cubs stayed three full games ahead of Pittsburgh, who trounced the Giants, 7-6, in a loosely played game.

No other games were scheduled in the National League.

Gehrige's thirty eighth homer in the ninth saved the Yankees from a shutout. The Athletics pounded Reuther and Pippas and took an 8-1 victory. Ty Cobb drove in the first run, slugged out three hits, and played brilliantly in center field.

Thurston pitched Washington to a 4-2 victory over Cleveland.

The Red Sox were ruined out against Detroit. Other American League teams were not scheduled.

SPORT SHORTS

(BY THE AP)

New York—The winner of tomorrow night's Delaney-Uzoudin fight will be held in readiness by Tex Rickard as a possible substitute for either Jack Dempsey or Gene Tunney, in the event either of the principals of the heavyweight championship bout at Chicago September 23 is unable to go on.

Duluth, Minn.—Frank Jackson of Lamoni, Iowa, who has held the world's horse shoe pitching championship 13 times, was the only undefeated contestant in the annual summer tournament of the National Horse Shoe Pitchers' Association.

St. Louis—Upsets and expected results have been about evenly divided in the fifth annual national parks tennis championship tournament here. Three seeded players have found themselves in the second round of play while one, Jack Delara, of Los Angeles, has dropped out of running.

yesterday, he majored over the Virgin Birth section, giving only a rapid sketch of the body of Matthew's record. The address rounded into his preliminary thesis of this Gospel's dominant note, "Behold, the King!"

Big Night Audience.

The night attendance was well-nigh double that at any sessions heretofore. "The Study of the Bible" was the unsensational theme presented. A very interesting portion of the address was under the chapter heading, "How I Lost my Bible, and How I Found Me," which described Dr. Morgan's early perplexities and struggles, in the days when historical criticism of the text and contents of the volume was coming into prominence in German and English universities.

From his own experience, he pleads in a great joy and tenderness, for a generosity and forbearance toward all youth of the church who have intellectual difficulties with the Bible, and seem to drift for a time.

"Whoever approaches the Sacred Word as a student must possess and retain two things: An open mind and a devoted will. Study first, dogmatize afterwards; and arrive at a knowledge of the doctrine, as Jesus suggests, by doing God's will." It was a great address, and prepared his hearers for tonight's pertinent theme, "The Bible and the Nation."

Dr. J. E. Henderson, Dr. J. E. Henderson's rich reviews of Jesus' teaching about prayer, morning and evening, are a treasure most wonderful. From his first word, hearers are in the atmosphere of worship and reverence. This Christian physician, ministering for twenty-three years to a backward race in the Dark Continent, has well learned the avenues of approach to the Divine ear and favor.

Yesterday's new voice was Arthur P. Black of Washington, D. C., who gave a strong, direct opinion, as a layman, of the "Ministry of Money." He was clear, deliberate, business-like and withal Biblical in his statement of the necessity for men to recognize their office as stewards of God.

"Men possess, but think they own. Realization that we are only tenants under God's lordship will be a great step forward. Among the Ten Commandments, covetousness is placed last."

ed alongside theft, blasphemy, adultery, murder and false testimony.

Consecration of Wealth.

"A better day is upon us, and very likely the world has never before seen giving on such large scale. Sir Henry Lund, Victor Lawson, George Eastman, S. J. Kresge, and J. C. Penney are shining examples of modern consecration of wealth."

Railton Sprake's beautiful solo, "Out of the Ivory Palaces," added much to the afternoon praise and at night a glad surprise came to the Conference, when Miss Madeline Seibert of Chicago, personal friend of Dr. Morgan's, who once assisted him in his London work, sang the glorious selection, "I Walk With the King." She will sing again this evening at 7:30 p. m.

Thursday will be a high day of the Conference. Foreign missionaries will be the honored guests and speakers. The gracious messages and personalities of Mrs. Suhr and Dr. Henderson have already given these a splendid introduction.

CONFERENCE NOTES

Forty-six ministers are registered from seventeen denominations, and these and the lay delegates represent nine states and fifty eight cities. This from the unquestionable records of the tireless and hyper-zealous conference promoter, Rev. W. W. Marshall, whose liberality of time, thought, good cheer and money has become proverbial, all current stories of the Scots to the contrary notwithstanding!

The Blessing Book Co. have Bible Hall well filled with a wide variety of religious literature. Dr. Morgan's works are well represented. The Ladies' School of Missions also has a splendid, though limited, line of recent publications for sale. "Browsin' 'round" these book counters is a favorite weakness of the preachers, as always, and now and then prudent mistress of the manse can be seen, with soft elbow-touch or whispered suggestion, warning some reverend bibliophile not to overbuy.

Rev. W. J. McKittrick, pastor of the Naperville M. E. church, assisted in last evening's devotional period preceding Dr. Morgan's address. Two other visitors, who are familiar figures about Assembly Park were among yesterday's arrivals: Dr. J. M. Bramkamp of Chicago, prominent in Lutheran synodical circles; and Dr. E. C. Harris, for nearly a score of years beloved pastor of the large St. John's Lutheran church in Sterling.

Dr. Parley E. Zartman, Conference Director, dropped anchor also, manifesting in appearance and disposition great pleasure of heart over this Conference-management business. Bodily, Zartman is a good complement for Dr. Morgan—indeed, the Conference appears thus supplied with both brains and brawn, spirit and flesh. And with the golf-loving President Carlson, and the artistic Director of Music, Mr. Sprake, the platform inspires confidence as a "four-square" proposition.

The long and affectionate associations with Assembly Park naturally brings the Lutheran pastors in largest numbers of all. But a surprising fact this year is, that Baptist ministers, whose churches are not especially numerous in this section, are a close second. However on neither program nor attendance records is there any stressing of denominational tenets or affiliations, since the Conference is entirely interdenominational and cooperative.

The Young Ladies' Mission Study Classes, taught by Mrs. Paulus and Miss Englehardt, are meeting on the south veranda of the Assembly Inn. Here, with the rich vista of forest, island shore, and gently-flowing river, they may discuss Life's Currents, of Power as these are guided of God, whose Spirit is in all true missionary endeavor the world over.

Text books used by the classes are the interdenominational studies for 1928: Foreign book, "A Straight Way Toward Tomorrow" (Mrs. Platt); Home Book, "From Over the Border" (McCombs).

Friday evening, 5:30, the Conference Board of Directors, with the program visitors, will dine at the Assembly Park Hotel. Reservations should be made with Pres. A. W. Carlson. The 1928 conference program will be the business item, and the fellowship-hour an equally desired feature.

No visitor on the ground exceeds in enjoyment of every detail of the conference the Rev. Olin F. Shaw, pastor of the Brethren church in Cedar Rapids, Ia., who is an old Assembly Park resort. He attended the 1927 chautauque throughout, and the next week camped with a group of his boys at the Pines, but declared he couldn't stay away, even if two weeks absence did seem at first the maximum time he would devote this year.

And a great lack heretofore in the conference was removed today in the return to the park of the Rev. Lloyd Warren Walter, pastor of St. Paul's church, Dixon. Even the squirrels appeared to feel his absence, so regular a figure on the Assembly landscape has he been through the years. But last week, after diligent work preliminary to the conference, he was obligated to leave for a week. His genial personality and ever-present, sive spirit will be a happy factor in all succeeding sessions.

Bon Voyage Party Delightful Affair

Monday afternoon at the Sunset Tea Rooms in Grand Detour Miss Louise Murphy was the guest of honor at a delightful bon voyage party given by Miss Winifred Jones and Miss Eleanor Callahan, (now Mrs. Edward Etnyre). The first part of the afternoon was spent in bridge, there being guests for five tables, and later a tempting tea was enjoyed, the unique decorations for which were in keeping with an ocean voyage. The favors at the tea were miniature ships, etc., and a profusion of beautiful flowers graced the rooms.

At bridge Miss Marie LeSage received the favor for high score; Miss Elizabeth Hennessey received the favor for second score; and Miss Louise Murphy received a guest favor. Miss Murphy sails for Europe August 17th, to study abroad.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Grede of Evanston; Miss Arthurs

SACCO BRIEFS

Tampa, Fla., Fifteen thousand cigar makers agreed to leave their benches today for a one day walkout protesting against the Sacco-Vanzetti execution.

Buenos Aires—A bomb exploded at the palace of Justice early this morning. The damage was slight. The bomb came a short time after an explosion of what is believed to have been a petard at the railway station of Valez Sarsfield, near Buenos Aires. A few freight cars were damaged.

Paris—To show the French people that all Americans are not in favor of the execution of two innocent men, in the words of the organizer, Ralph Palmer Fisher, a meeting of Americans to express sympathy with the two men was held last night. A few demonstrations were staged in the provinces.

Santo Domingo—Armed forces were protecting the American Legation today as a precaution against violent demonstrations.

Asuncion, Paraguay—Street and port traffic was paralyzed three hours yesterday in a strike called in protest against the execution.

London—The protest of the Sacco-Vanzetti committee in Geneva, which was held up yesterday, has been accepted by the Swiss Telegraph authorities, says Reuters, and transmitted to the American Legation at Bern.

Belfast—What was styled a protest meeting against the execution was held in Telegraph Square last night. It was an orderly affair, attended by about two score persons.

She slit the envelope with one quick thrust of her nail file.

I am here that is not my name," Vera Cameron answered evasively. "My name—" and she was glad to be telling the truth, though it did not sound like the truth—"is Vera Victoria Cameron. My friends call me Vee-Vee," she added.

"How cute!" Mrs. Bannister gushed. "My first name is Rita. I'd adore having you call me that. Cinnamon toast and tea for you, too, Schuyler!" she asked coyly. "Or will you have the same kind of tea that this terrible John of mine has been drinking?"

"Caylon for me—and cinnamon toast," Schuyler told her, frowning slightly.

It was seven o'clock when they arrived at the hotel. Schuyler's car decorously leading the way. The two couples had kept within hailing distance of each other during the hour's drive after tea, an arrangement insisted upon by Vee-Vee, and acquiesced in rather sulkily by Schuyler.

"But I suppose you're right," he admitted grudgingly. "That gushing little gossip will have us the talk of the hotel if we don't take care. And that would be dangerous. Any departing guest could carry the story to New York and cause a frightful row. I'm not ready to have your mother or father pounce on us just yet."

"No one dresses for dinner here on Sunday night," Schuyler told her, as he assisted her to alight from the car. "Don't run away. We can talk in the sun parlor. No one will be there now." His voice was pleading, and his hand would not release hers. "The dining room closes at eight. There won't be much time."

"I want to freshen up a bit," Vee-Vee told him. "I'll be down at half past seven. You sit at Miss Fossick's table, don't you?" she added.

"Not any more!" Schuyler retorted ardently, but she thought she detected a shade of fear or uneasiness darkening the glow in his brown eyes.

When Vera reached her own room, she tossed her hat to the bed, then flew to the mirror to search her newly flawless complexion to see if the warm June sun had brought out pale ghosts of her old freckles. She could have sobbed with relief when she saw that, except for a faint flush of excitement her cheeks were still as white and smooth as satin-skinned gardenias.

"I mustn't take any chances," she breathed, as she smeared her flushed cheeks with cleansing cream to remove the light dusting of pearl-tinted powder, preparatory to "making up" afresh.

She was rummaging in the drawer for absorbent tissue paper when her fingers encountered Jerry's mysterious letter which he had hurried to the station to give her as she left to seek her fortune. She drew it out, weighed it thoughtfully in her hands, held it up to the light and saw the indistinct outlines of a picture. So she had guessed right. Jerry's fears for her had centered around her amazing likeness to the woman from whose printed portrait he had modeled the beauty which he had created for her.

"I'm going to open it!" she decided suddenly, overcome by curiosity. "I have a hunch that Jerry would call my present situation a 'jam.'"

She wiped the cold cream from her fingers, then slit the envelope with one quick thrust of her nail file.

ADVENTISTS TO HOLD MEETINGS AT FRANKLIN GR.

Public Invited to Attend the Meetings at Camp Grounds

The public is cordially invited to attend the annual Mid-West Camp-meeting of Advent Christian (First Day) people to be held on the Epworth League Campground at Franklin Grove, Ill., Aug. 19-28, 1927.

Last year was the first that this organization used the Franklin Grove grounds but they were so well pleased with the location and the accommodations that it has been secured again this year.

The program promises to be one of real interest to all Christian people. A three fold object has been kept in mind in the arrangement of this program. It was desired that each day should include inspirational, educational and recreational features. The beautiful shady grounds with the tennis courts, swimming pool, etc., provide the diversions which make a vacation restful. The Bible Study classes held each morning, the two preaching services held daily, with the "morning watch" and other services of prayer will provide the other two features. Leading ministers of this denomination from a number of the surrounding states will have charge of the preaching and the Bible Study classes. Good music will be a feature of the meeting also, and Rev. John R. Fox of Columbus, Ohio, will be in charge. Evangelist Tom Mackey of Los Angeles will speak each evening at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Mackey is a very well known and highly regarded evangelist, especially in Chicago and on the Pacific Coast. He is reputed to have been the means of converting many thousands to the Christian way. Christians of all faiths will find him an interesting speaker.

Accommodations for staying on the grounds the full period or a short time may be secured by all who come. Cottages, tents and dormitory rooms are to be rented at reasonable rates. Meals will be served cafeteria style on the grounds. All are welcome to attend the meeting for as short or as long a period as they find possible. Strangers will find as cordial welcome as any life-long member of the Advent Christian Church.

In connection with the Camp-meeting a Boys' and Girls' Camp will be maintained under competent juvenile leaders.

In a Crisis ISO-VIS is on the Job!

A sheriff's car leads a stormy life. Quick starts and sudden stops—long grueling drives—continuous speed! Lubrication is even more important to the sheriff than to the ordinary motorist, for everything depends on his car's response—and the car's response depends on lubrication.

The sheriff of Jackson County, Illinois, lubricates his two cars with Iso-Vis and it has given him such "perfect satisfaction" that he has voluntarily written the following letter to commend the Lubricating Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for furnishing this new motor oil.

Murphysboro, Ill.
March 4th, 1927

Mr. P. H. Wightman, Mgr.
Standard Oil Co.,
Murphysboro, Illinois.

Dear Sir:

I wish to compliment your Company on the completeness of your service and the cheerful courtesy with which it is given, as well as the quality of your products.

I especially want to commend your Lubricating Department for furnishing the motoring public with Iso-Vis.

We use Iso-Vis in both the Sheriff's Ford and Oakland with perfect satisfaction. The very hardest service, making long drives where continuous speed is necessary. On a recent trip it was necessary to maintain a speed of 55 to 60 miles per hour for a distance of 55 to 60 miles and this on a beginning of a 300 mile trip. Iso-Vis stood the test of this speed without a fault and when the crank case was drained after about 850 miles the oil showed no evidence of breaking down.

Our entire satisfaction is best shown by the fact that we use no other oil than Iso-Vis.

Very truly,
W. M. Flanigan,
Sheriff of Jackson County, Illinois.

WMF

Iso-Vis is able to meet the most severe demands—to stand the hardest tests—because it is a constant viscosity motor oil. Ordinary motor oil loses its viscosity at a rapid rate—statistics show that at 200 miles it has only one-third of its original body. Iso-Vis is different. It maintains its viscosity indefinitely. That's why Iso-Vis is always on the job in a crisis—standing up under every test.

People everywhere are praising Iso-Vis—taking the trouble to write letters to the Company about it—because the results they get from this new motor oil are so astonishingly satisfactory. Results count. Motorists also welcome the lowered cost of lubrication that Iso-Vis makes possible, for though it is a trifle more per quart—30c—Iso-Vis costs less per mile. Iso-Vis "F" for Fords.
